Alberta Exhibitors Hold Enviably Record of Wins At Major Winter Shows

Have Won 2,770 Prizes in All Classes at Toronto Royal and Chicago
International Winter Fair

Alberta exhibitors in seed grain and live stock are setting out once more upon the trail of the elusive prizes at the big exhibitions at Chicago and Toronto. In spite of the disappointing features of the 1935 crop season, the provinces is almost certain to continue its great showing of the past, at least in some of the classes.

A survey recently completed by the Alberta publicity bureau reveals that in the 13 years since the Royal Fair at Toronto was created, the Province of Alberta has won a grand total of 2,770 prizes of all kinds in both grains and live stock at the two major exhibitions of the continent, the Toronto Royal, and the Chicago International. This is a record which cannot be challenged by any similar territory in America. Of this total 740 were in seed grains, and the balance of 2,030 were in live stock, poultry, dairy products, etc.

In the total are included 154 championships of all classes, 54 reserve championships, 32 special and 578 first prizes.

At Chicago "International," the total won in the 13-year period was 560 prizes of all kinds, including 33 championships, 11 reserves, and 67 firsts. The championships included seven in wheat, six in oats, two in barley, one in rye, six in field peas, two in field beans, three in alfalfa, two in timothy, and five in live stock. Total winnings at Chicago in grain were 501, with 50 in live stock.

At Toronto Royal Fair the total winnings in the 13-year period were 2,219, of which 1,728 were in live stock and poultry, 239 in grains and 252 miscellaneous. The total of championships at Toronto was 121, of which 111 were in live stock and poultry, and 10 in grains.

In horse classes at Toronto, the 13 years brought 132 prizes with 14 championships to Alberta, in beef cattle 440 prizes with 45 championships; in market cattle 323 prizes with 24 championships; in dual-purposes Shorthorns 19 prizes with three championships; in dairy cattle 301 prizes with seven championships; in sheep 200 prizes with 12 championships; in swine six prizes with two championships; in poultry 264 prizes with one championship; and in turkeys 44 prizes with three championships.

Dairy products reaped a harvest of 181 prizes for Alberta, 59 of which were first prizes. In wool 63 prizes have been taken.

One of the outstanding facts which has come to light in recent years as a result of the victories at Toronto is the extent to which Alberta has developed pure bred dairy herds. The total of 301 prizes in dairy cattle in the 13 years is proof of this.

Beef cattle, naturally, have always held a strong place in the winnings at Toronto, and the fine exhibits from Alberta year after year have attracted wide attention. The total prizes won in all beef cattle classes at Toronto in the 13 years was 762.

All Parts Contribute
A distribution of the prizes won over the 13-year period in seed grains at Chicago and Toronto according to census divisions of the province, reveals the extent to which all parts of the province have contributed to the magnificent record in this respect. Sixteen of the 17 divisions of the province each had some share in building up the province's enviable reputation for the production of high quality grains.

Census Division 16, which comprises the Peace River and Grande Prairie districts in the northern part of the province, leads with a total of 156, but division 2, which is in the extreme south of the province, with Lethbridge as chief point, is in second place with a total of 100 prizes, and division No. 3, which included the irrigation district of Brooks, is a close third with 99. Next in line comes division No. 8, running from Innisfail north to Wetaskiwin and Camrose, with 76, and division 10, which is the Vegreville-Lloydminster country, has a total of 61, with Edmonton district next with 51.

The complete summary of the seed grain winnings at both exhibitions over the 13-year period for the census division is as follows:

COLLHOLME "NEWSLETS"

With the looming of hostilities between Italy and Ethiopia some months ago all the leading newspapers of the American Continent immediately despatched their various representatives to the scenes of conflict to procure the latest and the "hottest" for our press. So be it the case with our Advance; although the happenings of our local community are far from hostile or warlike; your reporter is here and prepared to insert the news, providing they are based upon facts and facts only.

Since winter seems to have stretched her frosty hand over our province and particularly our own district here some are finding the means of locomotion exceedingly difficult owing to drifted roads, but we are well aware of the fact that roads leading to the Collholme school, especially from the east carry the aspect of a well travelled highway.

Mr. Harry Trogan made a very important trip to Cereal last Tuesday, and as far as the information leads are inclined to believe that he neither required the medical attention of Dr. Esler or the financial advice of the local Bank.

The Collholme Post Office it seems seldom keeps mail more than one day judging from the number of young men who journey there each week, we are inclined to believe there are other attractions besides letters.

Murdock McPherson has again taken up the reins of his old trade "the Trapper," for which he earned a very respectable reputation. Imagine his surprise upon the discovery that a skunk fell victim to two of his weasel traps, and had dragged them nearly half a mile from where they had been set. This reminds us that well laid plans "oft go astray, and "Its an ill wind that blows no body good."

Wes. Sellers has lately found that a certain home in the district is a retreat for a very enjoyable evening. He is seen there quite frequently.

R. Broston succeeded in trapping a coyote last week. Hard as this task supposedly is Rolin finds out he is much more successful at this job than alluring that little "Lass" who lives near to town.

Car roads from Big Spring to Collholme are out of the question. Mr. Warner, has difficulties getting to the Council meetings let alone going farther.

Push Sale Of Canadian Wheat

Western Canadian farmer organizations are on the right track in taking steps to launch a well defined and co-ordinated program of publicity with the promotion of greater consumption of high grade wheat in customer countries as its objective.

Within a period of a couple of weeks two of the large farmer marketing organizations have given their blessing to such a move. These are the central organization of the Canadian wheat pools, whose plan to place an all-Canadian wheat loaf before the British consumer was endorsed at the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool delegates and the United Grain Growers Ltd., who, at their annual meeting in Winnipeg sponsored a publicity program for Canadian wheat overseas.

Briefly, the U.G.G. Ltd. propose to interest boards of trade and other organizations throughout the prairie provinces to sponsor a request to the Federal government to set up a special sales promotion body to be known as the Canadian Wheat Institute with offices in consumer countries, the objective being to develop greater consumption of high quality wheat, which, of course, means wheat grown in Canadian fields.

The necessity for stimulating overseas consumers' interest is cited in the following quotation from the directors' report at the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool: "In spite of the fact that Great Britain remains the best Canadian overseas customer for Canadian wheat, our wheat is invariably used only for blending with other wheats, particularly in the English mills. The British peoples generally are not familiar with the high quality of bread which can be baked from Canadian flour."

In support of the argument that a publicity campaign should be conducted in Great Britain, figures were quoted at the U.G.G. convention to the effect that while world consumption of wheat has dropped 31 per cent. in the past five years, Canadian wheat exports have been lowered by 49 per cent. in the same period.

While this may be true, it does not necessarily mean, however, that Canada is not holding her own in competition with other wheat exporting countries as total exports have dropped faster than total consumption due to the self-sustaining efforts of a number of the former customer countries in Europe. It does demonstrate, however, a considerable reduction of consumption of wheat, during the period under review.

Unfortunately, there is evidence that there is actually a reduction of consumption of wheat in Great Britain, Canada's best customer for high grade wheat. Representatives of the Scottish Co-operative Wholesale Society, while in Western Canada this summer, testified that while the Scotchman insists upon bread made of wheat of high protein content, as a result of which bread sold by the Co-operative's affiliates and subsidiaries contains 63 per cent. Canadian wheat, he is also eating less bread than formerly and, incredible though it may sound, is consuming less porridge. The Caledonian is substituting more expensive fruit, bacon and eggs and other commodities, for a percentage of his erstwhile substantial diet of bread and oatmeal.

There are indications that a similar situation exists in England, where the popular taste is for a lower grade loaf than the Scotchman demands, for within the past year the British millers have found it advisable to institute a five-year advertising program, the object being to persuade the population south of the Tweed and the Cheviots that they should eat more bread.

With many of the former markets virtually closed to Canadian wheat and the British market showing a tendency to shrink, due to changing dietetic tastes, or whatever the cause may be, the outlook is not reassuring to the Western Canadian farmer.

The farmer organizations are becoming alive to the need for taking some steps to deal with these conditions and it is to be hoped that some effective program can be devised with all interests working together to a common aim.

In some quarters it is suggested that this is an opportunity for the Canadian Wheat Board to take the initiative in co-operation with the Department of Trade and Commerce. It is pointed out that the Wheat Board, under the Canada Wheat Board Act, is vested with wide enough powers in section 8, sub-section B, which gives the board authority "to sell and dispose of, from time to time, all wheat which the board may acquire for such price as it may consider reasonable with the object of promoting the sale and use of Canadian wheat in the world markets."

Some recent experiments in the home market make it possible that the public will respond to a loaf made more attractive by favoring or other devices and it is possible that similar efforts to woo the British consumer would pay dividends. At any rate it is worth a trial.

Terminates Annual Gifts

Rockefeller Believes Sectionalism In Church Is Wrong

Pursuing the traditional practice of his father, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., has terminated his annual monetary gifts to the Northern Baptist Church in the belief that inter-denominationalism is the best servitor of Christian religion.

In a searching letter to the Northern Baptist convention, written March 7 last, but revealed only recently, the son of the founder of one of the world's greatest fortunes informed the church that henceforth any future gifts would be only to specific agencies of the church.

"I have long felt," he wrote, "that this denominational emphasis is a divisive force in the progress of organized Christian work and an obstacle to the development of the spirit and life of Christ among men."

To hold young people, Rockefeller said, who are largely unconcerned with denominational distinctions, the church must work with them "relegating the non-essentials to a place of secondary importance and stand with them for the fundamentals of Christian duty."

Rockefeller, the largest individual donor to the church, has in the past made annual donations ranging from $250,000 to $1,000,000 to the general budget of the Northern Baptist convention.

Swarming Wasps Routed Pack Trains In B.C. This Year

Wasps were numerous throughout British Columbia this year. Hundreds of nests honeycombed the rocky ground of the Cariboo district and on Vancouver Island.

"You could stand still anywhere in the woods, listen quietly, and hear a humming like a flock of distant aeroplanes," a logger in the Courtenay district of Vancouver Island reported.

He told of finding an area where a bear had demolished a dozen nests in the space of a quarter of a mile, feasting on the young wasps it found.

Many nests were situated on the Forbidden Plateau and pack trains were often attacked by the stingers. Horses rear and plunge as the swarms sail in to the attack. The stings remain with the horses' only a few minutes, however, and they are soon quietened.

Unique Picture Gallery

Has Been Hobby Of Hotelkeeper For 35 Years

Trail, a little mining town in British Columbia, boasts a unique picture gallery. It is owned by Pete Levesque, a hotelkeeper, who has made it his hobby for 35 years, and it covers every inch of wall space in his lobby.

The gallery includes a photograph of every prominent man or woman who has visited Trail since 1900, and many of the photographs are autographed. All carry a short biography of the subject in Mr. Levesque's spidery writing, each ending with the word "died," followed by a blank space to be filled in when the time comes. Some of the subjects have thought this meticulous attention to detail a trifle premature.

More knocked the ashes from his cornucop pile and put it on the mantelpiece. "Mandy," he said, "I think it's gwine put on mah best clo's an go down to the theatre tonight to see de chorus ladies dance."

Mandy turned a stony eye on him. "Mose," she grumbled, "listen here. If dat am what you thinks, den you'd better think ag'in. Niggah, you ain't gwine to put on nothin' to hah no place, no time, to see nobody do nothin'; never, now, and not at all. Does yo' understand?"

English Language Changes

Words Drop Out And Come Into Use Again

A sign of the way in which the English language changes is seen in the use of the word "tremor," when describing earthquakes. In the last few days it has frequently appeared in news dispatches, but we were unable to find it in the Shorter Oxford English dictionary or in the Century.

We could find "tremor," that is, one who trembles, and "tremor," that is, an agitation of the limbs, or of the earth, but no "tremor." The Century dictionary quoted J. Milne's use of the word "tremor" as follows: "Modern research has shown a typical earthquake to consist of a series of small tremors succeeded by a shock or series of shocks."

The word was not in the body of the text of Webster's New International dictionary, either, but it was included in the footnotes, and this is what we read: "tremor—erroneous for tremor." It is Spanish for "tremor," says Webster. From an old dictionary, the Standard, published in the nineties, we got a little more information. It contained "trembores"—the word there has an extra "e"—which were defined as "tremors of the earth's surface in volcanic districts."

The word is Spanish, from "temblar"—without the "t"—meaning tremble. It was derived from South America. Apparently it was in common use in America, in its erroneous form, at the end of the last century, then dropped out of current speech, and has now made its reappearance, just like a dandelion in a lawn—Hamilton Spectator.

Java Has No Poor

Native Diet Is Frugal And Everyone Has Enough

Speaking of the world tour of Lord Baden-Powell and herself which recently concluded with their visit to Canada, Lady Baden-Powell mentioned their stay in Java, and added: "I might say there isn't a poor person in all of Java. Of course the native diet is frugal—a handful of rice and a couple of bananas is sufficient each day. But we could learn a lot from the simplicity of these Eastern people. Their kindness, their friendly spirit and their goodness shine from their eyes."

Poultry Congress In Leipzig

Exhibit Building In Berlin, Was Destroyed By Fire

Owing to a serious conflagration in the city of Berlin, Germany, the large building in which the live bird exhibit of the Sixth World's Poultry Congress was to have been held in 1936 was destroyed by fire. As there was no other hall in Berlin large enough for the purpose, the Congress authorities decided to hold the Congress in Leipzig. According to official information, this arrangement will give better accommodation than was possible in Berlin, while at the same time the delegates will have every opportunity of seeing the sights in and around Berlin itself on the occasion of a pre-arranged visit. Provision is also being made for the delegates to visit the Olympic Games, which will be held on the outskirts of Berlin. A Canadian tour is being arranged, and already there have been some definite bookings and a large number of applications for information.

Propane Gas Has Many Uses

Can Cool A Refrigerator Or Run A Motor

One of the products of oil and gas wells is a condensable gas, propane. Under compression it is a liquid, but if released to atmospheric pressure it becomes a gas. When it changes from a liquid to a gas it has properties similar to dry ice, solid carbon dioxide. It has frequently been suggested that propane could be used for a dual purpose with completely opposite effects. It could first be evaporated from the liquid state through coils of pipe to cool a refrigerator and the vapor could then be run to a gas stove, where it could be burned as fuel. A parallel application applied to motor trucks transporting perishable foods is described in "Food Industries." The propane is first used for refrigerating the body of the truck and is then used as fuel for the motor instead of gasoline.

Told Astonishing Story

Fishermen On Caspian Sea Marooned For Five Days

Thousands of Caspian fishermen told an astonishing story of having been marooned on the bottom of the sea for five days, dispatches to Moscow stated.

Their report was that at the busiest period of the fishing season the sea itself retired from under the fleet.

It receded along 150 miles of the northern shore line of the Caspian Sea, leaving the ships high and dry several kilometres from solid earth. Airplanes dropped food to the marooned men until the tide flowed back, allowed them to refloat their ships.

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about "ASPIRIN".

He will tell you that before the discovery of "Aspirin" most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists rate "Aspirin" among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this:

ROUGH HANDS? NO!

every boy who looks my way has lost his heart!"

"Well," observed Jack, "most any one would think that Matt had; but I never saw him act so happy and keyed up as he did this evening—and last night too. Say! will you ever forget how excited Mr. Adam was over your finding that crucifix? I think they're the finest family I ever knew. Nance. So enthusiastic, all of 'em. Do you suppose Dadn' Mother'll let me come back next winter? With Mark in California studying forestry they'll be short of help here at the ranch; and gee! I'd like it more'n anything!"

"I'll say a good word for you," promised his sister; and then: "Get back to bed, Jack. We must be up in good season, and it's long past midnight."

Despite her wakefulness, Nancy was up early next morning, though not so early as Matthew Adam, who had, according to Aurora, delivered milk at the Tubbs' abode before she was out of bed.

"He spoke through the window," she related, "and almost frightened Victor into a collapse. He said I was to tell Jack to be ready to ride down on the truck along with the trunks, and Mark and Luke and John (young John, I mean) and Mary Taylor and Juanita. I told him it would look like a straw ride, but he said, 'Who cares?' I'll have to admit that for a fellow whose sweat on a girl that's gone two thousand miles away where he'll likely never lay eyes on her again, Matthew Adam looked pretty well resigned. And not more than three days ago he resembled a man just coming from the cemetery after burying his last relation. He's to drive the Ford with his father and mother and Miss Columbine and you, Nancy. I declare, if I wasn't quite so fleshy I'd squeeze in between on the front seat and go too."

"Why not go down on the truck?" suggested Miss Columbine, emerging from her bedroom.

"Among all them trunks and young folks and milk cans," retorted the good woman, "No thank you, Miss Columbine. I have my pride, and there's house cleanin' to do even if you are going home with Eve Adam for over Sunday. I must say it was real consideration of Eve to ask you for this house. I'll see about the car with the tomb till we get used to it. Well" (she sighed mournfully), "the last breakfast is ready, and you'd better eat if you've any appetites, which I haven't myself. A cup of coffee and four doughnuts was all I could get down this mornin'. I've took for the liberty of inviting Victor Tubbs to dinner, Miss Columbine. I need food, and goodness knows I couldn't hook a bite if I was to be here alone."

The truck was gone at last, leaving Aurora flattered and rosy at Jack's farewell kiss.

"It's just as well," she said, waving her apron as a last salute, "that Victor was here to see. He's so jealous. Nancy, after more than 20 years of married life, and though Jack didn't mean nothin' in the world by kissin' me good-bye, Victor Tubbs might have misunderstood."

"Which proves that there's no fool like an old fool," declared Miss Columbine tartly. "Here comes the Ford. Aurora. I'd rather have Mark Adam drive us down the pass, but no doubt Matthew will be careful with his load of old folks. Where are you going, Nancy? I thought everything had been brought down."

"I must have one last look at the view from my tower," the girl responded, laughing; but one in the familiar room she lip-locked to a carefully closed closet and drew forth something she had hidden.

"Will you send Matt up to get my suitcase, Aurora?" she called with charming innocence from the head of the steel stairs. "Those stupid boys have overlooked it."

The last ride down the historic pass was over. The station came into view, with an impatient "delegation," as Jack called it, on the platform. All too soon a gigantic engine roared past the waiting crowd, and slowly stopped; white, and gleaming with wheels, Nance found herself mounting steps into the Pullman, a dusky porter armed with luggage leading her on, and Jack behind, stopping to call something to somebody.

"Section eight. This way, lady."

From her window Nance looked out upon a sort of composite picture of that friendly gathering. Then, as the wheels turned, she caught the glimpse her eyes were seeking: Cousin Columbine in her scarlet midday, with Matt close by, bareheaded as she had seen him first—his hand slipped through the old lady's arm protectively.

Dear Matt! She'd forgotten to tell him to look out for Cousin Columbine, but he knew. Something tightened in Nancy's throat. The landscape blurred. Then Jack was saying:

"Thank heaven that's over! I never felt so—so conspicuous in my life. Do you kiss every member of the Adam family? I donno but I did! I'm sure I kissed Juanita Tubbs—by mistake, of course. And I believe I must have kissed Cousin Columbine three times! Isn't she the dandiest old sport, Nance? Kept a stiff upper lip right to the last minute, but I miss my guess if she didn't want to bawl. Made me feel bad just to look at her. But some one will understand and cheer her up, sis. Of course somebody will!"

Jack was right. As the wheels moved faster and Miss Columbine's steady lip began to tremble, a firm young hand drew her away, back from the crowd that still stared, stupidly, it seemed, at the departing train.

"Listen," said Matthew. "Li-listen, Miss Columbine. It's not quite so awful as it seems, having her go. I promised not to tell even Mother till—until Nancy got home and could tell her; but she left a note for you in—case you seemed too lonely; and anyway, I'll probably explode if I don't tell some one, so—so you see."

This was the old, shy Matthew, hesitating as if there were no words with which to say this thing; but as she glanced up, puzzled, Columbine Nelson surprised a light upon his face that startled her.

"What are you trying to tell me, Matthew Adam?" she demanded brusquely. "Stop stumbling over your words like that. I'm not a stranger. Don't keep me on tenterhooks a minute longer or I'll do the exploding. What are you trying to say?"

And at the reappearance of her own brisk self, Matt laughed, while in the face and eyes of an astonished baggage-man, he caught the oddly attired lady in a bear-like hug. "Only that Nance is coming back," he told her joyously. "And—next time, Miss Columbine, she'll come—to stay!"

The End.

A NEW SERIAL STORY

Arrangements have been completed for presenting to our readers a new serial entitled "Fleeting's Folly," by that well-known writer, Lawrence A. Keating. This is an absorbing and exciting story of the western plains, and those who follow the installments as they appear each week, will be thrilled by the inventive situations. The serial will be commenced in an early issue. Be sure that you do not miss the opening chapters.

Swedish Economy Program

Request $2,500,000 For Expansion Of Electrified Railroad System
The Swedish State Railways Administration Board has requested 15,000,000 kronor (about $3,750,000) from the government for the next fiscal year, of which some 10,000,000 kronor (about $2,500,000) will be used to expand its electrified railroad system. Construction will cover mainly additions to trunk lines and electrification of minor roads and spurs. All main lines on which, such traffic is economically feasible already have been changed from steam.

At the beginning of 1935 electrified government lines totalled 1,321 miles. The expansion program calls for further electrification of 679 miles, of which 220 miles will be completed during 1935. The main reasons for this program have been economy in cost of operation, present cheapness of money and material, relief of unemployment and a greater independence from imported coal.

Electrification of Sweden's principal railroad line, 383 miles from Stockholm to Malmö, in the south, was completed October 1, 1935. Work on the 285-mile line from Stockholm to Gothenburg on the west coast, was started in 1923 and completed in 1926 at a cost of 44,600,000 kronor.

Part of the line that runs north from Stockholm toward Lapland has been electrified. The new power will be installed only as far as Ånge, where the north and south line strikes an east and west line that crosses the Scandinavian peninsula from Sundsvall, in Sweden, to Trondheim, in Norway. After that will come completion of the west coast line from Malmö to Gothenburg, and this work may later be extended as far as Oslo, the capital of Norway.

Phenomenal Doll Sales

Publicity Was Large Factor In The Success Of These Toys

Dolls have been the outstanding best sellers in the toy sections of departmental stores in the United States this year, according to national survey reports of toy world. Shirley Temple dolls, Dionne quintuplets and fairy princess dolls, the latter prompted by Colleen Moore's fairy doll house now touring the country, have won first place in over-the-counter sales.

Needless to say, the newspaper, movie and magazine publicity has been a big factor in the success of these toys. As a result of this year's phenomenal doll sales, the stores also report a fine demand for doll clothes and accessories.

Velocipedes and bicycles held a firm place during the summer months and are expected to maintain a strong position with Santa Claus this Christmas.

The four best selling games of the past month, according to the survey, were "Monopoly," "Finance," "Bandied Parchment" and "Badminton," all made by different manufacturers.

Aged Indian Dresses In Ceremonial Costume And Dances Sun Dance Chief David, 109-year-old Sault Indian of Vancouver Island, danced his way into the movies recently. When cameramen making a picture there inquired for someone who could interpret the ancient sun dance of the tribe, this grizzled old chief put on his ceremonial headdress and grunted his readiness to begin.

He went through the difficult movements of the dance without faltering. Then he told about his boyhood—how he had watched his tribesmen attack old Fort Victoria back in 1843.

Edmonton Notes

EDMONTON, Alta.—This week a very important announcement was made at Edmonton by Premier Aberhart. It is important because it indicates what is being done and planned by the Social Credit administration to meet the financial situation in which it found the province when it took office. A plan to refund the whole of the province's public debt so as to put it on a lower basis of interest payments and save a possible $2,000,000 annually for the people.

The public debt of Alberta is now approximately $155,000,000 and the cabinet has come to the conclusion that this huge sum cannot be paid without a reduction in the interest charges being made. The proposal, which has been carefully thought out by the ministry under advisement from Robert J. Major, Montreal actuary and engineer, was presented to the cabinet government this month when Premier Aberhart and several of his cabinet colleagues go to the federal capital.

It is anticipated the cities of Edmonton and Calgary will join in the proposal, and in that case the principal sum will be increased to around $200,000,000, and the total interest saving will be around $4,000,000. A guarantee by the federal government of this sum will be sought.

Another feature of the financial plan of the provincial government is a proposal to transfer the administration of the province's income tax to the dominion in order to eliminate the present duplication and save the province about $600,000 a year in the cost of operating the department here. The federal government's service could be utilized in collecting this provincial tax.

It is proposed to put the collection of the tax in the hands of the dominion income tax department. After making deductions for the cost of collection, the dominion could then place the amount collected to the credit of the province in payment of its indebtedness to the federal government.

The provincial income tax branch has a staff in Edmonton of 31 including clerks and stenographers. Some changes in this staff would likely result.

The first caucus of the Social Credit members of the legislature has been called by Premier Aberhart for Monday and Tuesday, November 18 and 19, and it is expected that the gathering to be held in Edmonton, will discuss Social Credit legislation and what is to be done about preparing for this at the next session. The premier said he expected it will be after the session before plans can be laid for Social Credit operations. But there is a likelihood that some sort of enabling legislation will be discussed at the caucus next week and presented to the legislature when it meets.

Shortly after the caucus of Social Credit M. L. A.'s a meeting between the government and the members of the party will be held to discuss proposals for presentation to Ottawa and to hear the wishes of the members as to the refunding. The premier has asked the federal government to arrange for a conference with him and his ministers in Ottawa on November 25. It is hoped at this conference, which will precede that of the other provincial premiers and the dominion cabinet, that a likelihood for Alberta for the refunding scheme for Alberta.

During the week just past, one dismissal of a higher-up official has taken place. E. J. Fream, member of the public utilities commission for the past ten years, received notice that his service would terminate with the end of the month. Some days ago Premier Aberhart announced the decision to abolish the office held by Mr. Fream and to make the utilities board a one-man board with the present chairman, Mr. A. A. Carpenter, as the sole member.

Mr. Fream is the eighth high official in the civil service to be dispensed with since the government came into office. The dismissals are all part of the consolidation and reorganization plans of the administration.

Abolition of the Alberta assessment commission was one more step in the consolidation of government services announced by Premier Aberhart during the week. The plan is to transfer the board's work to the public utilities to the public utilities commission on November 15.

Two appointments have been made during the week to fill vacancies caused by dismissals. They are that of J. D. McDonald, of Crangville, to the post of business superintendent at the Ponoka Mental Hospital in succession to Arthur G. Wilson who has held the position for about ten years. Mr. McDonald arrived in Ponoka during last week and commenced his duties at once. And the second appointment is that of A. Snika, of the Franklin Press, Calgary, to the vacant post of King's printer, left vacant by the retirement of W. L. McLean, who was dismissed by the government.

EDMONTON, Alta.—News in government circles during the past week has not been as sensational as in some weeks, but there has been plenty of work and the doling in of the political circles have been far from uninteresting.

A stone was thrown into the political pond causing some quick-spreading circles when it became known that a new organization under the leadership of A. S. Shandro, former Alberta M.L.A., and a defeated candidate in the recent provincial election, was offering to assist citizens in their registration for Social Credit basic dividends. The new association has opened an office in Edmonton and is charging $1 per family for its services. Copies of a circular issued by the association were forwarded to Premier Aberhart and at once the government took steps to make it clear it has nothing to do with the move.

The premier said: "There is no doubt in my mind but what this is opposition propaganda started with the object of embarrassing the government at this time." In his radio broadcast from the Calgary Prohibitive Bible Institute, Sunday afternoon, Mr. Aberhart said: "This is a disgraceful move. There is need for assailing people to make their registration. The basic dividends cannot be paid yet and there will be no need for help in such a simple matter as registering." He said people who pay their dollars to this new association are simply "throwing their away."

The chief happening this week, commencing Monday the 18th, and ending the 19th, has been the first caucus of the Social Credit members of the legislature since the Aberhart government took office in Edmonton. Almost every member of the province until the end of November 19th, and some of the newly elected federal members. Matters connected with the plans for the introduction of Social Credit in Alberta were considered and the government's proposed refunding scheme and reconstruction efforts reviewed.

Minor matters discussed included the election of a speaker for the legislature, which is to be held on February 26, and arrangements for carrying on the work of the Social Credit League in the constituencies.

The government made application to the federal government for a $200,000 loan to carry on the administration of the province until the end of November. The general application for financial assistance cannot be submitted to Ottawa before the Dominion-provincial conference assemblies on December 9th, the date for that gathering having been delayed by the absence of Prime Minister Mackenzie King from Ottawa. The application was made to Hon. C. A. Dunning, federal finance minister. Mr. Dunning later sent word back asking for further details of the province's financial position and the information asked was immediately forwarded to Ottawa. Word from Ottawa sent by unofficial sources indicated the needed assistance would not be denied.

Premier Aberhart during the week

Wax Plucking Economic

One of the reasons for the popular adoption of the wax plucking of poultry is that the process is not an expensive one. Recovery of 95 per cent of the wax—a figure which can be realized without much difficulty—means a loss of about one pound of wax in the dressing of forty average birds. The reclaimed wax may be used repeatedly. The reclaiming operation consists in simply melting down the pieces of wax, allowing the mass of wax and feathers to get quite hot and straining. A broad-bladed pliable knife, or even a flat stick, can be used to press the larger part of the residual wax out of feathers, pins, and other extraneous matter left in the bottom of the strainer. Slight changes do occur in the wax on long usage, but these will not be serious, states the bulletin issued recently on the use of wax in the plucking of poultry, and the farmer-operator will be able to use the wax almost indefinitely. Repeated melting and straining of the wax removes most of the dirt and keeps the mixture comparatively sterile. As the wax is used up, fresh wax may be added to keep up the volume. The bulletin may be obtained from the Publicity and Extension Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Premier Aberhart will leave Edmonton for Ottawa early in December he hopes, and will be accompanied by Hon. J. W. Huggill, attorney-general; Hon. D. C. Ross, minister of lands and mines; Hon. Charles Cockcroft, provincial treasurer; and Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works. It is likely that R. J. Major, who has been engaged by the government to advise in straightening out its present financial tangles for six months, will also accompany the received his first, threat from a letter writer who threatened that unless the government paid its first basic dividend before Christmas, Mr. Aberhart would "suffer the consequences." The premier readily said: "We'll have to look the consequences for we won't be able to pay the dividends by Christmas."

"We cannot introduce Social Credit on rotten foundations," the premier said. "It will be impossible to pay dividends before Christmas. We do not desire to repudiate our debt, but if we strengthen the security of mortgages we should have fair treatment in regard to interest rates. Please let me insist we cannot begin Social Credit for a while yet."

Gossip around Parliament buildings centred during the week on the latest "sluttish" for government employees to be put into force. A notice was sent to all deputy ministers and heads of departments banning smoking by employees during office hours and forbidding lateness in the corridors of the government buildings. The ban also extended to the habit of smoking in the corridors of the government buildings. The ban also extended to the habit of smoking in the corridors of the government buildings. The ban also extended to the habit of smoking in the corridors of the government buildings.

A note of candour was infused into the matter, however, when the "Friday" an outsider visiting the office of one of the members of the cabinet found him comfortably seated in his luxurious room and calmly smoking a pipe. The member said he was not aware of the ban, but he was not about to be oblivious of the ban about example being better than precept.

SEED FAIR AT CHINOOK

A Seed Fair for the Junior Wheat Club of Chinook was held Nov 18th, in Chinook School. Because of bad road conditions the Judge could not attend the Seed Fairs of Maple and Youngstown Clubs. Their wheat was judged at Chinook, consequently the time was very limited for educational lectures on obtaining good wheat. However, the meeting was very successful.

Prizes awarded in Chinook Club were: Dean Tomkins—first on one-half bushel and first on picked quart also.

Louis Hilde, of Youngstown Club won the Special prize for best exhibit of the three Clubs.

The minutes were as follows: Massey—Young—minutes adopted as read.

Mr. E. C. Hallman, illustrative talk on preparing Seed Exhibit.

Mr. N. D. Stewart awarded prizes to the field contest winners.

Young Massey—that we do adjourn.

Soviet Russia has carried on ceaseless propaganda against the British Empire for more than 12 years, both in this country and in other countries, using as its principal machine the organization of the Communist International, which acts under the immediate orders of the Political Bureau of the Communist Party in Russia.

"The goal of the Communist International is a struggle for world power, even with the force of arms, for the overthrow of the international bourgeoisie, and the creation of an international Soviet Republic, as a transitional stage in the complete suppression of the State. . . . The Communist International must effectively and practically be a single world Communist Party, whose branches are Communist Parties in each country."

Speaking sometime back in the British House of Commons, the Home Secretary said:

I want the House to realize that the demonstration yesterday was a spontaneous movement. It is quite clear that the National Unemployed Workers' Movement, a Communist organization, or in the main a Communist organization, has been the instigator of those difficulties.

"I am not going to alarm the House, nor am I going to say that this is solely a matter of Moscow, but it is quite clear that there is a very material connection between those in Moscow and some of this organization. I need not refer to the resolution of the Twelfth Plenum of the Executive Committee of the Communist International, which contributes so predominantly to the Communist funds. Take the position of the British Communist Party. Its membership is approximately 6,000. Probably 80 per cent of this membership is unemployed. Yet the party runs a daily newspaper and an elaborate monthly review, has a large staff of paid organizers, and conducts a planetary system of subsidiary organizations. Its subsidy from the Communist run into tens of thousands a year. Under such circumstances it is inevitable that the policy of the British Communist Party should be determined by the Communist Party, and that means by the Russian Communist Party. The orders of the Communist Party were not obeyed the subsidy would stop. The activities of the British Communist Party would almost completely stop."

When this is fully realized, I think, the overwhelming majority of citizens will agree that this is not the time when any safe guards should be scrapped.

Premier Bennett uttered a truism when he said "None of us have complete liberty; none of us can do exactly as we like. It is license communism want, not liberty; they are earning not scrap concerning the rights of other people."

It is said that the Regina march was caused through some failure on Mr. Bennett's part. There is no truth in this. The Social Credit Party formed the government in 1929. From the very day they took office the Communists did everything possible against the government and in fact were responsible for its downfall in that year. Again in 1929 they started a strike tactic and endeavored to make the socialist government's life a misery. This was solely because Communists were and are against orderly government and against a revolution. They are adopting the same attitude in Canada. The mounties at the Regina trouble were especially ordered not to carry ammunition and they did not. Not one mountie used firearms.

Nick and Lena Schmidt left for Rosemary Saturday where they will attend the Mennoite school.

Mrs. Rudy left Tuesday night for Calgary where she will visit friends.

The following left Tuesday night on the C.N.R. for Calgary: Messrs W.E. Seeger, G. Cook, N. O'Malley, G. Peterson and G. Gillett.

Mrs. Loater and son Arthur moved to town this week, and will occupy the house formerly occupied by Chas. Benault.

Mr. and Mrs. Overand, of Okotoks, announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Isabelle, to Mr. Courtland J. Aggett, of Youngstown, of De Winton, only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Aggett, of Youngstown, Alta. The marriage will take place the latter part of December.

Albertain Win Prizes For Cattle At Toronto

TORONTO, Nov. 22. (C. P.) Second day of judging cattle, swine and horses at the Royal Winter Fair was a long drawn-out affair as judges and officials labored over record entries in cattle classes Friday. The judging continues today in the same three divisions.

One of the highlights of the day was the splendid record of wins made by Mount Victoria farms of Hudson Heights, Que. in the Holstein division. The Quebec farm captured the grand and senior titles and also the reserve grand and seni r.

Canadian Pacific Supply Farm at Strathmore, Alta. took the heifers class for animals two years and under three, in milk.

In the market cattle class for singles, grades and cross breeds University of Alberta captured steer or heifer, from 801 pounds to 900 pounds, from 21 other entries.

Reports circulated that funds of the Workmen's Compensation Board were not in proper shape were denied by Hon. Charles Cockcroft, provincial treasurer, when they were brought to his notice. He said the funds are in safety deposit boxes in the Bank of Montreal, Edmonton, and were taken out and counted on January 4, 1935, by the provincial auditor. The funds are required to be taken out and counted each year, the provincial treasurer stated. On December 31, 1934, there was $2,670,201 in bonds and debentures in the funds, which was the amount required to be there.

No increase or decrease is being contemplated in the cost of auto licenses in Alberta, the premier has stated and rumors to that effect are premature to say the least.

Mrs. M. L. Chapman is a Calgary visitor this week.

Mrs. Rideout entertained on Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Kenworthy, of Edmonton, and her daughters, Jean and Patricia, are visiting the former's sister, Mrs. Mortimer.
